Subject: Notice of opportunity to comment on Kentucky's waiver request of the No Child Left Behind (NCLB) 14-day parent notice requirement; Comments due by Friday, July 31

Dear Superintendent,

As a part of the US Department of Education's (USDOE's) waiver request process, the Kentucky Department of Education is required to provide all local education agencies with notice and a reasonable opportunity to comment on the waiver request described below; thus, we are providing this invitation to comment via this e-mail. If you have questions or wish to comment on this waiver request, please contact Debbie Hicks, director of the Division of Federal Programs, via e-mail at Debbie.Hicks@education.ky.gov or via phone at 502-564-3791 no later than Friday, July 31, close of business.

Explanation of waiver request

Based upon new guidance provided by the USDOE dated July 2009, states have been granted the opportunity to apply for a waiver of the requirement, pursuant to Title I, Part A, that local education agencies provide notice of public school choice options 14 days before the start of the school year to parents of students enrolled in Title I schools that are identified as in need for improvement, corrective action, or restructuring under NCLB. The waiver will only apply to two groups of schools: those that could be newly identified for NCLB improvement status and those that may be eligible to exit NCLB improvement status, based on the release of test scores. This waiver is only available for the 2009-2010 school year. A state may request the waiver if it needs to change its assessment schedule or modify its assessment contract in order to comply with the notice requirement before the beginning of the school year.

Kentucky is requesting this waiver based primarily on two significant, federally declared disasters associated with weather conditions occurring in Kentucky during the 2008-2009 school year: (1) severe windstorm associated with Tropical Depression Ike in September 2008 and (2) severe ice storm in January 2009. The storms resulted in districts having less instructional days prior to the testing window, thus potentially affecting test results. The loss of instructional days was significant enough for Kentucky to extend the Spring 2009 testing window through mid-May making it impossible, both fiscally and logistically, for our vendor to return test results prior to September.

What the waiver will mean is that, based on the receipt of test scores, for (a) schools that could be newly identified for improvement status in 2009 – 2010 and (b) schools that are eligible to exit improvement, corrective action, or restructuring in 2009-2010, the provision of notification of public school choice to parents will be on hold from the beginning of the school year until Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) status is known in September. (Note: The affected Title I schools in these two categories have been notified in a separate email message). Once these two groups of schools receive their scores and AYP status, those who are determined to be "in improvement" status will then be required to provide the notice of school choice to parents and implement the appropriate level of consequences. Those that exit improvement status will not be required to continue the consequences of improvement status and will not be required to offer parent notice of school choice.

Other Title I schools whose AYP status remains unchanged by the release of this year's test results must continue to meet the requirement that they provide notice of school choice at least 14 days before the start of school. (Note: Districts with Title I schools in this situation have already been notified about the requirement to continue the 14-day parent notice in a separate message.)

Again, please direct any questions or comments on Kentucky's waiver request of the 14-day parent notice requirement to Debbie Hicks, director, Division of Federal Programs, via e-mail at Debbie.Hicks@education.ky.gov or via phone at 502-564-3791 no later than Friday, July 31, close of business.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Kentucky's waiver request of the No Child Left Behind (NCLB) 14-day parent notice requirement

Title I, Part A is one of the many federal programs in the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001. Title I, Part A provides formula grants to districts. Districts then allocate funds to Title I schools based on their number of low-income children. The district must use Title I funds only in schools that have been selected for services through allowable procedures. Funds are used to improve student achievement in high poverty schools. Dear Superintendent,

In the fall of 2008 new guidance was issued by the U. S. Department of Education regarding the timeline for parent notification of school choice under the federal No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB). A school that has not made Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) for two or more years is identified as "in improvement" and must offer all students enrolled in the Title I school the option to transfer to another public school in the district that has not been identified for improvement. Districts must notify parents of all students in the identified Title I school 14 days prior to the beginning of the school year.

NCLB 2009 Reports will be released mid-September. Your district has a school(s) that has/have not made AYP previously and will continue to be identified as "in improvement" for the 2009-2010 school year. (List of affected schools/districts is attached.) The release of new NCLB reports in September will NOT change the status of NCLB consequences for your school(s) on the attached list. Regardless of the scores not being released till mid-September, your school(s) must continue implementing consequences and comply with the 14-day notice of public school choice as the schools begin the 2009-2010 school year in August.

Specifically, NCLB requires your district to provide an explanation of the choice option to meet the 14-day notice requirement to all parents of students enrolled in Title I schools that have been identified for school improvement, corrective action, or restructuring. This notification must be in a comprehensive, easy-to-understand format and, to the extent practical, in a language the parents can understand. At a minimum, this notification must:

1. Inform parents that their child is eligible to attend another public school due to the identification of the current school as "in need of improvement".

2. Identify each public school that the parent can select.
3. Include information on the academic achievement of the schools that the parent may select. The notification may include other information, such as a description of special academic programs, facilities, before-or-after school programs, the professional qualifications of teachers in the core academic subjects or parent involvement opportunities.

For further information and assistance contact Jennifer Baker, Andrea Carter, Jaynae Laine, Charliese Lewis, Judy Littleton, Mary Marshall, David Millanti, Dawn Offutt, or Troy Teegarden at 502-564-3791.

Please make sure that the information below is forwarded to the affected principals and your Title I Coordinator.

No Child Left Behind (NCLB) 2009 Reports will be released in mid-September. Your district has a school(s) that may potentially exit, remain in, or enter NCLB consequences when Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) status is known. (See Attachment A: Schools Eligible to Exit Improvement Status Pending 2009 NCLB Report Results and Attachment B: Schools Eligible to Enter Improvement Status Pending 2009 NCLB Report Results.) However, you will not know the final status of your school(s) until the NCLB Reports are issued. Thus, for your school(s) the provision of public school choice will be on hold from the beginning of the school year until AYP status is known in September. Once AYP status is determined, then the following actions must occur as required under NCLB for the different categories listed below:

Schools that exit consequences per 2009 NCLB Reports received in mid-September

If a school's NCLB 2009 Report received in mid-September indicates that the school can exit improvement, corrective action, or restructuring in 2009-2010, then the following applies:

- There will be no requirement to send notice of public school choice to parents of students in the school..
- The school is no longer in improvement, corrective action or restructuring and does not have to continue the associated consequences.

Schools that remain in consequences per NCLB 2009 Reports received in mid-September

If a school's NCLB 2009 Report received in mid-September indicates that the school must remain in improvement, corrective action, or restructuring in 2009-2010, then the following applies:

- Notice of public school choice must be sent immediately to the parents of students in the school. Specifically, the district must provide an explanation of the choice option to all parents of students enrolled in Title I schools that have been identified for school improvement, corrective action, or restructuring. This notification must be in a comprehensive, easy-to-understand format and, to the extent practical, in a language the parents can understand. At a minimum, this notification must:
 1. Inform parents that their child is eligible to attend another public school due to the identification of the current school as in need of improvement.
 2. Identify each public school that the parent can select.
 3. Include information on the academic achievement of the schools that the parent may select. The notification may include other information, such as a description of special academic programs, facilities, before-or-after school programs, the professional qualifications of teachers in the core academic subjects or parent involvement opportunities.
- Districts are reminded that if the offer of public school choice is made earlier to students in some schools than to students in other schools, the district will need to reserve a portion of the available transportation slots for students in the schools who receive the later notice.
- The school must continue the consequences associated with improvement, corrective action or restructuring.

Schools that are newly identified for improvement per NCLB 2009 Reports received in mid-September

If a school's NCLB 2009 Report received in mid-September indicates that based on the school's test scores the school is newly identified for "improvement status" in 2009-2010, then the following applies:

- Notice of public school choice must be sent immediately to the parents of students in the school. Specifically, the district must provide an explanation of the choice option to all parents of students enrolled in Title I schools that have been identified for school improvement, corrective action, or restructuring. This notification must be in a comprehensive, easy-to-understand format and, to the extent practical, in a language the parents can understand. At a minimum, this notification must:
 1. Inform parents that their child is eligible to attend another public school due to the identification of the current school as in need of improvement.
 2. Identify each public school that the parent can select.
 3. Include information on the academic achievement of the schools that the parent may select. The notification may include other information, such as a description of special academic programs, facilities, before-or-after school programs, the professional qualifications of teachers in the core academic subjects or parent involvement opportunities.
- Districts are reminded that if the offer of public school choice is made earlier to students in some schools than to students in other schools, the district will need to reserve a portion of the available transportation slots for students in the schools who receive the later notice.
- The school must begin implementation of the appropriate consequences associated with improvement, corrective action or restructuring.

For further information and assistance, contact Jennifer Baker, Andrea Carter, Jaynae Laine, Charliese Lewis, Judy Littleton, Mary Marshall, David Millanti, Dawn Offutt, or Troy Teegarden at 502-564-3791.

Thank you for your attention to these federal law requirements.
